ABOUT

The Braided Janes are an internationally acclaimed queer, fem-fronted post-punk Latin rock trio from Chicago delivering electrifying, crowd-moving performances. Rooted in social justice, their bilingual music connects audiences across cultures and borders. Recognized by NPR, PBS, and Mexico's Ministry of Foreign Relations (SRE), their 2023 Corazón Migrante tour was featured on Adelante (Season 25).

The band's recent single "BASTA" (out 10/31/25) is a cry against endless war and injustice – from Gaza to the struggles of Latine communities in the U.S. Produced with award-winning Jeanne Montalvo, it follows their first ever all women-led debut "Bésame" (11/24).

"BASTA" follows their Tropi-alt rock album "Renacer" recorded with Grammy winning producer Christian Castagno and the Corazón Migrante tour, which launched at CECUT (Centro Cultural Tijuana) and reached over a dozen U.S. cities including New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Houston, Kansas City, Atlanta, and more.
